(From Tuesday's Daily)
The Eagle can state on good authority that the enterprising residents of Fannin Street have started today a movement which when it is gotten through will mean the paving of another residence street in the City of Bryan. The agitators of this project are men who live along this street and are some of our good live wires. They are men who believe in doing things for the betterment of the city and community in which they live. Let us hope that not a single property owner on this street when approached regarding the matter will not be in favor of the paving. Let's get Bryan out of the mud and make it the best city in Texas. We have the resources and the men here with ability and the money. Let's keep her going since the start has been made.

The proposed paving of Fannin Street would be from the I. & G. N. depot and out to the McKenzie property on Congress Street.

FLOOD COMMITTEE VISITS BOTTOM

Inspected Rich Valley Lands and Had Need of Protection From Floods Pointed Out.

(From Friday's Daily)

A party composed of John M. Lawrence, E. J. Fountain, J. M. Gordon, E. H. Astin, John E. Astin, A. W. Wilkerson, L. L. McInnis, L. M. Levinson and J. E. Turner left the city this morning at 6:30 over the Bryan and Central Texas Interurban in a special car to meet the congressional committee which is now in Texas at the invitation and as guests of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement Association, of which W. W. Seeley of Waco is the president.

The special car went to Bryan Junction and there they met the special train upon which the congressional party is making its tour in Texas. Senator J. R. Astin and James O. Chance of Bryan are among those who compose the party. After an exchange of greetings between the Bryan party and the crowd from Washington, the entire party boarded the trailer of the motor train which was furnished by Manager Levinson of the road and the trip was made to Whittaker, the terminus of the road, where Mr. Chance holds some very valuable lands. In making this trip the car was run very slowly so that the members of the party could be pointed out the places which show that protection is needed from the river. This was done by Mr. Chance, who stood in the end of the car. After reaching Whittaker the party was treated to a light lunch by Mr. Chance on the porch of his store at that place.

Many places of interest were shown the distinguished visitors, such as low lands, where the slightest rise puts the river over the land, and houses where people had cut holes in the tops of them to get air while marooned during a flood. On the return trip from Whittaker a stop was made at the point where the river in 1913 threatened to and almost did change its course entirely. Quite a number of interesting things happened and the Bryan party returned to this city about noon and all say they believe it was profitable, and will bear good fruit. The visitors returned to their train and left immediately for Hearne and Waco.

Among the members of the party were some distinguished men from Navasota and Hearne. The party from Washington was composed of following: Chairman of the flood control committee, Hon. B. G. Humphreys of Mississippi; Hon. J. P. Buchanan of Brenham, Texas; Hon. Joseph Russell of Missouri; Hon. Jeff. McLemore of Texas; Hon. Wm. A. Rodenburg of Illinois; Hon. Wm. R. Wood of Indiana; Hon. Chas. C. Kearne of Ohio, and a clerk for the party.

Back From Trip Through Texas With Flood Control Committee.

Mr. Jas. O. Chance, who was a member of the reception committee of Texans to meet the congressional flood control committee and accompany them through Texas, arrived home this morning. Mr. Chance remained with the party until the inspection was completed at Waco last night. The committee members departed for Washington from that place and the Texas gentlemen accompanying them returned to their homes.

Mr. Chance is highly pleased with the trip and expects great good to come of it. He says the inspection of the flooded districts was thorough and complete and the members of the committee evinced the keenest interest all along the route and showed their interest by asking many questions for further information on points not exactly clear to them.

Mr. Chance was especially pleased with the reception given the party by citizens of Bryan Friday during the inspection of the bottoms opposite Bryan. It was appreciated by the members of the committee.

The reception accorded the committee at every place visited was simply splendid, Mr. Chance says, and helped to enliven a trip that otherwise might have been tiresome to the gentlemen from Washington.

The audience heard with increasing interest throughout Dr. Hardy's beautiful, practical and inspiring address on "Duties, Obligations and Service Versus Rights, Privileges and Immunities." His words of advice and helpful suggestions to the members of the senior class of B. B. A. were given with loving interest, and were not only appreciated by the young men and young women who on that occasion received their diplomas of graduation, but were equally enjoyed by the entire audience.

ALLEN ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT

Addresses Delivered and Diplomas and Medals Awarded Tuesday Night.

Another session of Allen Academy has passed into history. The graduating exercises were held at the Colonial Theatre last night, final examinations closed today at noon and now it's "Home Sweet Home," for which all the boys are hastening as fast as steam can carry them.

The session just closed was not as largely attended as some in the past history of the school, the reasons for which are the same as pertaining to all schools, but it was a profitable session, the discipline and morale being of an exceptionally high order, and the work of the students being thorough and complete in every respect.

Prof. John H. Allen in his closing remarks at the conclusion of the program last night said the graduating class was the smallest in numbers the Academy had ever turned out, but it was one of the strongest and best. That no class had ever gone out in which he had greater confidence and he felt assured they would be heard from in the higher institutions to which they may go from Allen Academy and in the activities of real life. It was a splendid compliment to a class of splendid young men.

There were six members of the graduating class, namely: William Howard, Moody; Royal Miller, Dallas; Jack McClintock, Waco; Robert Favre, Troupe; Robert Armstrong, Bryan, and Allen Myers, Jr., Bryan.

The opera house was filled to its capacity at 8:30 o'clock last evening by the friends and patrons of the Academy to witness the graduating exercises. The stage decorations were beautiful, prominent among which was the elegant silver cup won by the Academy's athletes this year in the interscholastic track meet at Austin. The cup was filled with tall, graceful red lilies and was commented upon by the commencement orator, and by many in the audience.

The program in full for the evening was as follows:

Invocation—Rev. C. H. Story.

Uncle Sam, Promoter—Robert W. Armstrong.

Universal Military Service—Pro, Will C. Howard; con, Robert Favre.

The New Pan-Americanism—Royal Miller.

Address to the Graduates—Dr. J. W. Calhoun.

Awarding of diplomas and presentation of medals.

Each of the young men on the program as representatives of their class, acquitted himself with great credit. The subjects selected were all on live topics, in fact every one of them is included in the great questions that are today engaging the serious consideration of our greatest thinkers, students, editors and statesmen. They were developed logically and the strongest points connected with each subject were clearly and forcibly presented. The Eagle heartily congratulates the young men on both the subject matter of their orations and the splendid manner in which they were presented.

Dr. Calhoun of the University of Texas, the orator of the evening, was introduced by Prof. R. O. Allen and his address was easily one of the best ever delivered in Bryan. It consisted largely of humorous illustrations which kept the audience in a thoroughly good humor, but every one of them had a point to it sharper than a needle and carried a valuable lesson. His closing remarks were addressed to the graduating class and were splendid. He told in a most inspiring way of the great fields that lie in the future, of the great work to be done in all walks and activities of life, and adjured the young men to continue their work in completing their education, so they may be prepared to play an important part in this greater service to humanity.

Prof. J. H. Allen delivered the diplomas to the graduates, followed by the presentation of medals, scholarships and other honors.

The senior scholarship medal, awarded annually by Dr. P. M. Raysor, was won by William Howard. This medal carried with it the highest honors of the senior class and also a scholarship to the State University.

The English medal, donated by Mrs. O. H. Astin, was won by Robt. Moreland. This young man was also presented a valuable book by his Sunday School teacher, Mrs. A. M. Waldrop, for his faithful attendance.

The junior scholarship medal, donated by Jno. M. Calwell, was won by Ed Huggins.

The mathematics medal, donated by Herbert Paine of Houston, was won by Stephen Crenshaw.

The medal for the best work in arithmetic, donated by J. L. Mitchell of Houston, was won by Charles Wolfe.

The athletic medal and a scholarship to the A. & M. College were won by Jack McClintock.

For excellence in all school work, a scholarship to Austin College was awarded Robert Armstrong, a scholarship to the Southern Methodist University to Robert Favre and an elegant book to Allen Myers, Jr.

MILLCAN NEWS.

The members of the graduating class were entertained Friday evening with a 6 o'clock supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson. The fun began when a large placard attracted the attention of the guests which announced that it was a "left-hand social," and any one using their right hand during the evening would be forced to pay a penalty. This was rather trying during supper, but afterwards it came almost natural.

Having been supplied with paper and a pencil, the guests were told to draw the person sitting next to them. There were many beautiful specimens of art (?) After this a ball game was enjoyed outside, and the players found some difficulty in knocking home runs using their left hands.

The most trying time, however, was when they were given a small piece of cloth with needle and thread and told to work a button hole with their left hand. Miss Hempfling displayed her efficiency at this particular art and received a small gold thimble. Miss Burrows was awarded the "booby prize."

The members of this year's class are: Misses Ruth McGregor, Gladys Johnson, Eulalio Hempfling, Mary Jackson and Irene Purman. Miss Carrie Mae Edwards, a last year's graduate, and Miss Winnie Burrows, an eighth grade student, were included in this entertainment. The hostess was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Phillips. Correspondent.

IMPROVEMENT WORK TO PROGRESS.

(From Saturday's Daily)

At the joint meeting yesterday afternoon at the City Hall between the City Council, the commissioners court and the Brazos County good roads advisory committee, the matters pertaining to improvements in the way of street paving and county road building and the connecting up of same were all gone over and discussed. It was found that sufficient funds were available for the work and that it would go forward without any hitch or delay on their part.

DOG NOT MAD.

C. G. Walker announced this morning that he had received a telegram from the Pasteur Institute at Austin late yesterday afternoon which read: "No evidence of rabies in dog's brain." Mr. and Mrs. Walker were greatly relieved after the message came, as they were very uneasy as to the child's safety. Their many friends also share their joy with them.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, May 27.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent May 29 to June 2, warm wave May 28 to June 1, cool wave May 31 to June 4. Temperatures of this will average lower than usual. Rains in a general average east of the Rockies will be greater in amount than usual and storms will be of greater than normal intensity.

Next warm wave will reach Vancouver near June 1 and after affecting all the Pacific slope south to Mexico will turn eastward and cross the Rocky ridge by close of June 2, planes sections and meridian 90 June 3, Great Lakes and Ohio valleys 4, eastern sections 5, and reach Newfoundland near June 6. Storm wave will follow about one day behind warm wave, cool wave about one day behind storm wave.

Not an important storm. Not much rain, cool wave will not bring very low temperatures, general averages of temperatures above normal, good crop weather week. This storm will make a wide circuit, reaching the Mexican Gulf near June 4.

Another warm wave will pass Vancouver near June 7, turn eastward, cross Rocky ridge near 8, planes states and meridian 90 June 9, Great Lakes and Ohio valleys 10, eastern sections 11, Newfoundland 12. Storm wave will follow about one day behind and cool wave two days behind the warm wave.

This will be a more important storm. Temperatures will go unusually high and the cool wave will go to lower degrees than the preceding cool wave. Light rains will be general and the week promises good crop weather.

Always a calm before the storm. First 20 days of June promise to be good and then will come something like Sherman's description of war, something akin to the great Verdun protracted battle, but of course less destructive. Again we give warning of very dangerous storms June 20 to 27.

In a general way June temperatures will be high near both ends and low in the middle. Nearly all the rainfall of the month will be concentrated into the week centering on June 23. Most of that rain will be east of the Rockies, near and south of latitude 40.

We regard grain prices as ridiculously low for these times of universal world wars and believe that agents of the countries at war, aided by American speculators, have prevented farmers from getting what is due them for grain. Probably much depends on the liquidation of the May options and we advise farmers not to sell grain until that settlement is fully out of existence.

Cotton is the most difficult problem. If the wars end this year, 1917 will bring a great demand for cotton. We all expect the wars to end before Christmas and therefore our advice is to produce all the cotton you can this year and do not be in a hurry to sell it.

We are expecting fair crops of everything this year and our advice to farmers and planters is to hold for big prices. The people will not starve; there are always enough who must sell early, to supply real demands.

COMPLETING CIVIC PARK WORK.

City Electrician C. G. Smith and his force are at work today completing the lighting system in the Civic League Park. The ornamental lights are being placed in position and after a little more work on the grounds the people of Bryan will have a delightful little spot in which to spend their leisure moments, and it will also be a place to which we can point out to a stranger in the city with pride. All credit to the ladies of the Civic League. Mr. Smith says that the work will be completed by the middle of next week.

Adversity usually reveals the genius of the general, while good fortune conceals it.—Horace.

BANDITS AND TROOPERS FIGHT BLOODY BATTLE

Mexican Bandit Leader Next In Importance To Villa Was Killed By American Troops In An Engagement Thursday. One United States Trooper Was Killed and Two Wounded. One of The Wounded Troopers Killed Two of The Bandits. The Court Martial Board To Try The Guardsmen Refusing To Enlist In The Regular Army Has Been Forwarded To Wilson For His Approval. Composed of Five Regular Army Officers and Eight From The Militia.

(By Associated Press.)

Field Headquarters, Mex., May 26.—(Wireless.)—Candelario Cervantes, a Villa bandit leader, was killed in an engagement with American troops yesterday. Private George O. Hulitt was the hero of the fighting. Bullets from his rifle brought down both Cervantes and Jose Berncorne, another bandit who was killed. Cervantes had been a thorn in the side of the army of Northern Chihuahua ever since the expedition began.

ONE TROOPER KILLED.

(By Associated Press.)

San Antonio, Texas, May 26.—Corporal David Macksbury was killed and Privates George Nicholson and George Hulitt were wounded yesterday when the Americans killed Candelario Cervantes in an engagement south of Las Cruces yesterday, according to General Pershing's report to General Funston today. General Pershing described Cervantes as "second in importance only to Villa." Members of the Seventh Cavalry were caught in a surprise attack.

Court Martial Board.

(By Associated Press.)

San Antonio, Texas, May 26.—The names of five officers of the regular army and eight from the Texas militia have been forwarded to President Wilson by General Funston for his approval as members of the board of court martial to try the 116 militiamen refusing to join the regular army. The trial will be held here as soon as possible.

More Bandit Outrages.

San Antonio, Texas, May 26.—More than 200 civilians were slaughtered at Tres Marias, between Mexico City and Toluca, three weeks ago when bandits wrecked a train. Only one man was left alive. The rebels secured 2,000,000 cartridges and 3,000,000 pesos of the new currency issue.

WOULD HAVE OUR NAVY MUCH LARGER

Republican Member of Naval Committee Would Build Second Largest Navy in the World.

(From Thursday's Daily)
(By Associated Press.)

Washington, May 25.—The minority report reads that the republican members of the house naval committee denounces the $241,000,000 naval appropriation bill in a majority report wholly inadequate and urges a more liberal allowance to make the United States navy the second greatest in the world.

HOW TO LOOK WELL DRESSED.

In the June American Magazine is an account of one of the most successful insurance solicitors in the country, who attributes a large part of his success to the fact that he always looks well dressed and prosperous.

"If you have only one suit of clothes, keep that one suit clean and pressed all the time," he says. "Press your trousers yourself every day if necessary. I have pressed my trousers lots of times. Keep your shoes shined."

"If you can afford several suits, change off from one suit to another frequently, and keep all of them spotless and well pressed. I never wear a suit longer than the second day at a time. To change every day is better. It gives the clothes a chance to 'rest.' I always hang my clothes on hangers the minute I take them off. It gives them a chance to 'come back' into shape and the nap to come up again."

"It is a great economy to have lots of good clothes. A suit will last twice and three times as long and always look well if you keep changing off from one to another. Besides, people get tired of seeing a man in the same suit day after day for a whole season."

HOTEL WORK PROGRESSING.

(From Saturday's Daily)

Contractors who are building the Haswell annex to the Hotel Bryan are rushing the work right along now. They have been pouring concrete now for several days. A few days ago a night crew was put on who work up to pretty late at night and then start again at 5 o'clock in the morning. Framework for the second story will be erected next week.

TEXAS GUARDSMEN TO BE TRIED NOW

Secretary Baker Changes Mind and the 116 Guardsmen Are to Be Court Martialed at Once.

(From Thursday's Daily)

Washington, May 25.—Reversing his previous decision, Secretary of War Baker today announced that the 116 guardsmen who are refusing to muster into federal service be court martialed immediately under the present law. He previously intended to await the signing of the new militia law by President Wilson and proceed under its provisions.

LETTER FROM THE WEST.

Former Brazos County Man Still Loves to Hear From Home.
Trent, Texas, May 18, 1916.

Editor Bryan Eagle:
Find enclosed $1.00 for which send me your weekly paper. I am a former resident of your county. I left there in the fall of '89 and came to Fisher County, and have been here ever since. I have quite a number of relatives in and around Bryan and Wheelock, and still like to hear from down there.

Our country is in fairly good shape after having about five months' drouth through the winter and spring. It started raining on the first of April and we have had plenty of rain since then. The recent rains will be fine on wheat, which is looking good, that is, the early wheat that was put in the ground that was thoroughly prepared last summer, which stood through the drouth fine. The late wheat all died out.

We have some cotton to plant yet which I suppose sounds late in your country. Our crops are always later here than down there. Grass is fine and stock of all kinds looking well.

If you see fit you may publish this letter. If any of my relatives and old schoolmates should see it, I would be glad to hear from any of them.

Yours respectfully,
T. G. ELLIOTT.

LIVING'S COST.

The high cost of living is very materially reduced since the gardens have come in. Time was when every town family had a back-yard garden that supplied a good part of the family's food supply, but with the advent of the automobile and other national diversions, the garden spot has been covered with the garage and tennis court.—Palestine Herald.

It is left to the individual today just as it was left to him a hundred years ago to make his living cost high or cost low. Despite the complaint that victuals and clothes are tragically expensive at this time, it remains true that there is plenty of cheap food and cheap clothing available to the people. A fairly good pair of socks can be bought for a dime. They are not the best, but better than lots of folks had when grandpa was starting out to make his fortune. A nice hat can be had for a dollar. It is not exactly what you would prefer, perhaps, but it is much better than the average run of hats at about the same price when grandpa was on his first legs. A bushel of meal can be purchased with half a day's labor, and it makes up into as many hoecakes as when grandpa was a courting man. Hoecake isn't accounted a luxury, of course, but grandpa used to relish it after working hard all day for 75 cents. Measured by wages, the cost of living now is not higher than it was when grandpa got married and laid the foundation for a sung little fortune. The main difficulty is not that the cost of simple living is high, but that the expense of living beyond one's means is something awful. The eighteenth century spendthrift found the price of living no less than the twentieth century spendthrift finds it. So.—State Press.

Up from the Blue Grass country comes the sound of Marse Henry's voice. The Courier-Journal says: "Somewhere in Mexico there is a headstone which reads on the side looking toward America, 'Here Lies Villa,' and on the other side, 'Here Lies Carranza.'" You win, Colonel Watterson.—El Paso Times.

Colonel Roosevelt's announcement that he would accept the republican nomination for president, is equivalent to a declaration that he is going to have it if he can get it.

France does not want Germany to tender peace, but wants her to ask for it. It is not stated, however, that she is sitting up nights waiting to receive Germany's request.

A LIVING FORCE.

Representative William P. Borland of Missouri is a champion of the Monroe Doctrine. This is an excerpt from a recent speech:

"It is now nearly a century since the Monroe Doctrine, so-called, was announced by an American president in a purely domestic state document, an annual message to congress, and yet, never was the doctrine more deeply rooted in the affection of the people, and never would it be more unwise to challenge it than today."

Borland rang the bell. The Monroe Doctrine is a living issue and not a dead gospel. Americans are for the Monroe Doctrine and they will fight, if need be, to uphold and preserve the Monroe Doctrine. This is one reason why this republic should never make entangling alliances with European or Asiatic nations. The Monroe Doctrine is the doctrine of all the Americas. It was first enunciated by James Monroe, a democratic president of the United States, and it has been subscribed to by all democrats who came after him.—Fort Worth Record.

The Eagle editor expects to attend the State Press Association at El Paso next week. Our coming back, however, is another matter. Some of our friends tell us that as soon as the military authorities in that section behold our war-like cast of countenance, and learn of our terrible fighting propensities, they will muster us right into the regular army without further ceremony. We think, however, if Col. Nick Houx of Mexia, J. Felton Lane of Hearne, and Ed Blackshear of Navasota can escape, we'll be in no danger.

The "angel child" has married again. One Mr. Jack Clifford is the fortunate—well, we hardly know just what to call him. As she was a grass widow, we suppose he is the grass bridegroom. To say the least, he's as green as grass.

The Eagle retracts the statement made some time ago, made on the indications at that time, that the stand pat republicans and Bull Mooers were melting and running together like butter in the sun, preparatory to the nomination of Roosevelt at Chicago. It now begins to look as if they do not "want their Teddy back" and that Justice Hughes will likely get the nomination. However, the Colonel has great stampeding powers.

There is no room for argument as to the interest the public has, or the rights of the public, either, as to cleanliness in places where the people gather frequently and in large numbers. Health is a prime consideration and the police power of state or city to safeguard health is properly large. Resultantly a movement or effort to see that all public places are clean, wholesome and healthy must always be regarded as right and commendable.—Waco Tribune.

A headline in the Madisonville Meteor says: "Married at Wealthy." Lord, if the contracting parties could just knock out that little "at," would it not be glorious?

This talk of fraud, corruption, unfairness and questionable methods now figuring largely in the public press relative to the action of the late democratic state convention, is a disgrace to the state. If the charges made by the Love forces that he was elected national committeeman and cheated out of the honor by manipulation on the part of certain officials of the convention, then the convention has brought shame and disgrace upon the party and the state. If there is no truth in the charges, if Poindexter was fairly elected, then the Love faction is guilty of the disgrace and the effect of same should recoil upon their own heads.

Most encouraging reports have been received by The Eagle as to crop conditions throughout Brazos County, excepting of course the hail district, and even here the work of replanting has been finished. The hill crops are good, and the reports from the Brazos bottom are that conditions are more favorable than they have been since 1912.

The public work in progress in Bryan, to say nothing of the good road building now in progress, is indeed encouraging. Already its effect can be felt in renewed hope and the restored confidence of the people.

Another new front and modern awning for a Main Street business house has been let. Gradually, slowly, but surely The Eagle's campaign for modern and uniform awnings in Bryan is bearing fruit. The old, out of date monstrosities that still remain, must go and will go.

A great deal of serious damage was done by the heavy washing rains that fell last Saturday to the growing crops of the county. All creeks and low lands were overflowed with water and roads washed out and in some instances are impassable.—Madisonville Meteor.

The Mineral Wells Index says of course a man must be known at the bank before he can get money, but sometimes it gums up the cards if he is too well known.

One of the live as well as one of the vexatious questions before the biennial meeting of the Women's Clubs now in session in New York, is the admission of negro women's clubs to the federation. This question may be perplexing to the Northern sisters in the federation, but it will not be considered for a quarter of a second by the sisters from the South. Furthermore if it should be adopted, the national federation would be automatically divided, the clubs of the South withdrawing without so much as the formality of a motion to that effect. Not only that, but the negro club women of the South, if there be any, do not desire such affiliation and would not enter into it. The negroes of the South, with perhaps an occasional exception, realize their proper place with respect to the white race, and stay in it. The teaching of this doctrine, the relation of the two races, was a large part of the life work and teachings of Booker T. Washington, and the Southern negroes respect his teaching.

Roasting ears and watermelons will soon be rolling in.—Bryan Eagle.

Do they just roll out of the patches into the road and then into town?—Athens Review.

Don't know so much about them rolling into the road. We know that our friends roll large bunches of them into our office to show the result of their handiwork and we do not presume it to be necessary to pursue our investigations to any further conclusions.

THIS SURELY Baffles US.

Under the caption, "This Surely Baffles Us," the Waco Times-Herald editorializes thus:

"We are at a loss to understand why Dr. Arthur James Barton, the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, should hold such bitter resentment toward the San Antonio convention and its work."

"The convention did the very thing that Dr. Barton wanted it to do, to wit: Indorsed the Wilson administration."

"A prohibitionist presided over the deliberations of the convention."

"A prohibitionist was elected national committeeman."

"A Wilson delegation, some pros and some antis, as suggested by the caucus called by Dr. Barton, was sent to the national convention."

"Every affirmative proposition that came from the pro side of the house was adopted by the convention."

"Then why Dr. Barton's complaint?"

It would seem that Dr. Barton's complaint lies in the fact that the state democratic convention refused to allow his non-partisan anti-saloon organization—a branch of an Ohio corporation—to come into the convention, name its officers, dictate its platform of principles and usurp the positions of delegates to the national democratic convention and of national democratic committeeman.—Houston Post.

Dr. Barton and the other prohibitionists who participated in the state convention, are working for prohibition above all things else, and they are deserving of no censure for it. It is their right and their privilege, and if they believe the end can be sooner reached by the election of men to the various positions in the party organization, as well as public officials, holding the same views with them, does it not stand to reason that they as reasonable men, will work for the triumph of their side. Dr. Barton opposed Judge Wear, chairman of the convention, and Judge Poindexter for national committeeman, because they are opposed to national prohibition. While both are prohibitionists, still there are degrees in prohibition and Dr. Barton and his followers wanted men who would go the whole hog. The good doctor feared they did not carry the "blown in the bottle brand" because they were the candidates of Jacob Wolters and Governor Ferguson.

More American blood has incarnadined the cactus ridden soil of Mexico. It may be some comfort to add, however, that Mexican blood was mingled with it.

Editor Frank Estes of the Franklin Central Texan has entered the race for the legislature from Robertson County. Mr. Estes is a safe, conservative, level headed man and would be a safe man to send to the legislature. His intimate knowledge with the public questions of the day add to his other splendid qualifications for the duties of a state representative.

"HOLD MY HORSE!"

A clerk in a Dallas department store, who is now a private in one of the companies from that city, was hanging around headquarters where he had no business in the world, a few days ago. A regular army officer rode up and with characteristic curttness threw the reins to the private.

"Hold my horse!" he commanded abruptly.

"The hell you say!" was the astonished rejoinder. "What's the matter with you holding your own horse?"

The insubordination almost got the Dallas boy in a good deal of trouble, and he escaped the guard-house, only because of his absolute greenness. His reprimand was quite severe—and it will be a cold day in August when this independent young American ceases to remember that, regardless of his privileges in citizen's clothes, he can't cuss a man with shoulder straps.

In many of the militia companies the personal relations between officers are close; they called each other Tom and Dick and Harry back home, and it's hard for Tom, now a private, to learn he must always address Officer Harry as "Sir," and stand up when Officer Dick comes around.—Dallas Journal.

The constitution of the United States provides that the militia forces of the several states shall be under the control of the states. What right, under the constitution, has President Wilson, Secretary of War Baker, or any federal military commander under them, to try and punish, by military court martial, the 116 members of the Texas militia who refused to be sworn into the federal regular army service? The federal constitution is with these Texas militiamen. Does President Wilson consider the Dick law to be of more force than the constitution?—Dallas Democrat.

Joe Bailey was steam rolled at El Paso at the state democratic convention two years ago and mashed as flat as a pan-cake. This time, in the convention just adjourned at San Antonio, he was at the throttle and guided the course of the roller himself. However, the political whirligig of the past two years had brought him and the Ferguson crowd—those who opposed him at El Paso—into the same eddying waters and they were together this time. The combination was irresistible and the Tom Ball, Tom Love, Cullen Thomas, Morris Sheppard, Dr. Barton crowd, was crushed into a shapeless mass. In other words, the anti-prohibitionists controlled the convention from start to finish.

Any man caught loafing on the streets of Bryan now, as much farm work as there is to do in the county, should be made to "hit the ball" unless he can show a competent reason for his idleness. An idler must eat the same as the worker, and if he does not make it himself, somebody else must make it for him. Run the loafers in.

If the Texas warehouse and marketing department has ever profited anybody except those who hold jobs in it, the Register would like to know who the beneficiaries are.—East Texas Register.

The street work, brick building work and good roads work have absorbed a large per cent of the labor and farmers complain of trouble in securing cotton choppers and hands for other farm work.

OUR BIRD PROTECTORS.

Our native birds protect us. Insects are devoured by birds. Thirty-eight species of birds feed on the boll weevil.

Fifty-one species feed chiefly on hairy caterpillars.

Plantlice are devoured by 38 species of our native birds.

The kingbirds eat weevils and other injurious insects voraciously, and the robins, it is stated, eat ten times more bad insects and seeds than seed, berries and fruit useful to man.

A scarlet tanager was watched, which ate 35 gypsy moths a minute for 18 minutes.

Twenty-eight cut worms were found to have been eaten by a red-winged blackbird, and in 40 minutes' time two warblers gulped 3560 plant-lice.

A PROPOSED OUTRAGE.

Secretary of War Baker has reversed his former decision to await the signing of the new military law by President Wilson before proceeding against the 116 members of the National Guard from Texas, New Mexico and Arizona who refused to be mustered into the regular army. Under his new decision they are to be court martialed and placed on trial at once. All of which The Eagle takes pleasure in characterizing as a damnable outrage. The idea that a young man belonging to the state militia, has not a right to resign his membership when he pleases, or that he must submit to being forcibly mustered into the regular army, is preposterous, and the denial of such right is a burning shame and an outrage. We are not living in Russia, this is not a land of military despotism and if the proposed plan of Secretary Baker is carried out, and these young men are in any way deprived of their rights or their liberty, it will be a sad day for the United States. Our boasted liberty and freedom will be things of the past, and in a day the institutions upon which this republic are founded, will be blotted out. Our national emblem should be exchanged for the despot's crown, the picture of George Washington should be turned to the wall and the Statue of Liberty on Belsoe's Island should be dynamited.

BAND CONCERT AT A. & M.

Quite a number of Bryan citizens availed themselves of the opportunity Sunday afternoon to hear the band concert at College by the A. & M. band, which was given under the direction of Band Master P. B. Day of that institution. The afternoon was ideal for car riding and those who are fortunate enough to possess cars were there in great numbers and the rest of us went out on the interurban to this enjoyable affair. There were 12 numbers rendered by the band and every one was a masterpiece within itself. Bandmaster Day, who is among the best in the country, has certainly trained his band this year to perfection and it is said among students of the institution that he gets better music each year, and it is the hope that next season, when the attendance is increased about 250, the band will be still larger and better.

DR. EBY VISITS A. & M.

Encourages More Systematic Study of the Bible in College.

Plans for more systematic study of the Bible at the A. & M. College are being made by President Bizzell, Secretary Steger of the Y. M. C. A., and leaders in religious activities at the College. At a conference with Dr. Frederick Eby, of the University of Texas, the advisability of offering credit for Bible study work of College standing was considered favorably. Dr. Eby during his stay at this institution addressed the corps of cadets in the chapel, the Y. M. C. A. Bible School, composed of about 500 men, and the teaching staff of the school.

SEED MAN IN CITY.

Philip Bailey, representing the Texas Seed and Floral Company of Dallas, spent yesterday in the city with the local seed men. Mr. Bailey was a pleasant caller at The Eagle office and stated that the garden and truck farms through this section should be the best in many years, as the demand on his house for seed had never been greater.

Our opportunities are apt to go by default unless they carry dollar signs.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ANNUAL MEETING

New Constitution Adopted, New Directors Elected, a Splendid Banquet and Eloquent Addresses.

(From Friday's Daily)

The business session of the annual meeting of the Commercial Club was called to order Thursday night at 8:15 by the president of the club, Mr. E. J. Fountain. In the absence of Secretary H. L. McKnight, John A. Moore was elected secretary pro tem. The matter of changing the by-laws and constitution was first brought up and the new one, which had been drawn up by a committee, was read by Major L. L. McInnis and was adopted by the club. The new constitution provides for some radical changes in the club, mainly to do the work of the club through committees, and the changing of the name from the Bryan Commercial Club to the Bryan and Brazos County Commercial Association. It provides for a chairman of each of the seven standing committees, who are also directors of the association, and each chairman is to report at a regular monthly meeting just what his committee has accomplished during the month. The chairmen of these committees had previously been elected by the old board and are as follows: Agricultural, J. Webb Howell; highways, O. S. Johnson; educational, L. L. McInnis; trade extension, J. L. Edge; city development, A. W. Wilkerson; finance and membership, E. J. Fountain; entertainment, Ed Hall. In view of the fact that these seven directors had been elected, it left only nine new ones to be selected, and they are as follows: E. W. Crenshaw, J. D. Martin, A. M. Waldrop, O. P. Hall, W. J. Coulter, J. H. Conway, R. S. Webb, Sr., E. H. Edge and E. J. Jenkins.

The reading of the annual report of Secretary McKnight had to be omitted owing to the fact that he was absent from the city.

The report of the chairman of the finance committee was read by Mr. Ed Hall and was referred to the incoming board of directors.

A motion prevailed to adjourn to the Hotel Bryan, where a most creditable luncheon was spread by Manager J. S. Doane of this institution.

The secretary pro tem, Mr. John A. Moore, in a few fitting remarks, introduced the first speaker of the evening, Judge J. W. Doremus, whose subject, "The Advantages of Being a Citizen of Bryan," was handled in a masterful way. The judge began his address by saying: "There are numerous advantages in being a citizen of Bryan, and a man always gets out of a thing in accordance with what he puts into it. A man is not responsible for where he was born, and in most cases is not afterwards responsible for where he lives. I came to Bryan about 40 years ago and in that time the greatest change that is noticeable here is in the high standard of education. Of course the town has grown from a mere village to a nice thriving little city, but in my opinion the one great thing that has caused the change is the higher moral thought. Now one of the best advantages of being a citizen of Bryan is that you are living in a community where the standard of moral thought is hardly equaled in Texas. Today Bryan's churches are equal to cities of 60,000 or 70,000 population. In 1860, I am told, where this magnificent hotel now stands, there was a goose pond and until 1866, when the first railroad came to Bryan from the south, all that was here was a wild prairie. The road had its terminus here and the town got its start and in a few years the road went further north and another new growth struck the city and commerce started in earnest. The character of the town then was very different to what it is now. Education was on a low level and the growth of the town was spasmodic. New people came, schools and churches were built, and crime began to be suppressed. Now it is my prediction that there is another big boom coming to this city, and when it does Bryan is going to jump to a city of from 12,000 to 15,000 people before we can realize it. The question that confronts us is what we must do to grow? We must develop the town and the country around the town. While in conversation just a few days ago with our tax assessor I was informed that there are 21,000 people living in Brazos County and that a little less than one-fourth of the land is in cultivation. Now, in order to take care of what is to develop in Bryan and Brazos County, we must get our lands in cultivation. Of course, agriculture will only do so much toward making our town, but the good old hard-working farmer is the man who puts the money in circulation and gets started what is needed most in Bryan right today, and that is the big long trail of husky honest men carrying dinner pails up and down our streets. Of course, as I said, agriculture will only do so much toward this, but my friends we must prepare ourselves. We must build factories. In Racine, Wis., which just a few years ago was never heard of, there are now 25 wagon factories and it is a modern city. If we bring industries to our city we are just so certain to bring people here to live."

In closing Judge Doremus gave four good reasons why it was advantageous to live in Bryan, namely: "The social standard of the city; the educational advantages that we have; the religious influences under which we are constantly thrown, and the opportunities for the development of a large city."

The next speaker for the evening was introduced just after the guests had partaken of the best part of the dinner, which was broiled squab chicken, with lemon butter. This speaker was Hon. L. L. McInnis, who told those present why the City of Bryan should have a new charter. Mr. McInnis said in part: "When the town of Bryan was incorporated the only charter that was available was procured and that is the one we now have. In recent years we have developed here the business of a city and not the business of the small country town that we had then, and it puts us in a bad way to handle our business. The business of a business man is to run his affairs in a business way and a city should take steps also to progress as it becomes necessary. Some years ago an amendment was put through the legislature about city charters which allows cities that have grown from villages to over 5,000 people, by a majority vote, to arrange their own charter and put it into effect. Now what greater privilege could we as citizens want than that of making our own government. Gentlemen, Bryan has grown to its limit under the present charter and we are right now facing a problem that is absolutely impossible to handle, and that is the one of a public school building. Why can't we as citizens adopt a charter that will be something, that will mean big things for us? Some of our citizens have the idea that when a charter is framed the taxes will go skyward. Now we do not put one penny of taxation on ourselves in voting a new charter. But we can, after we have the charter, do things by taxation that are necessary to be done if Bryan progresses any further. Now the question is, are we afraid that we will burden ourselves with taxation if the charter is passed? I say no; as reasonable minded men we should be able to take care of our business as a city the same as we do our private affairs. We must make civic improvements to be proud of our town, but we cannot do this with our present charter. With our unsightly public buildings, I think that today a new charter is what we must have. Our churches in the city are the only things that are up to the standard. There is nothing fair in public building except through taxation."

Mr. McInnis enumerated quite a number of things right here that are imperative for the growth of the City of Bryan, and said the only way to obtain them was by getting for the city a new charter. In closing he said: "When I was a child I spoke as a child, but now that I am a man, I speak as a man, and I ask this one question, are we afraid to trust ourselves with our taxation?"

With some very complimentary remarks to the A. & M. College, the secretary introduced Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the institution, who told the guests about the future of the institution as he saw it. Dr. Bizzell said: "The interest of the schools of the City of Bryan should be the interest of all its citizens, and if you will permit me to refer to the speech of Mr. McInnis, I will say that the high school building in Bryan is a disgrace to the community and that a new building should be erected at once at any cost. The A. & M. College is now in its fortieth year and we have 1,100 students and 150 professors and teachers and a plant that is worth about $2,000,000, and now why have I not a cause to dream of the future of the school? There is the Smith-Lever act which is doing wonders for the land-grant schools, and a bill known as the Chamberlain bill has passed both houses in Washington and is now in the president's hands, providing for free maintenance by allowing $6.00 per week for all senior and junior students who are studying military science and tactics, and for each 400 students it provides one military commander and for each 100 students it provides one commissioned officer. It further provides a summer training camp for high school institutions. And why now have we not a cause to dream? I am now in my fortieth year and the greatest desire in my whole life is to remain with the A. & M. College for ten years, and that will be the best part of my life. During this time we want for A. & M. College in 1921, 2,000 students and 200 teachers, and in 1926 we want 3,000 students and 300 teachers. We want 250 demonstration agents (men), and 250 demonstration agents (women), and 100 field workers for experiment stations, and we want 75 demonstrators and 20 sub-stations. In buildings we want the following: Agricultural building, $350,000; mechanical engineering building, $75,000; gymnasium, $200,000; library, $150,000; agricultural engineering building, $75,000; hydraulic laboratories building, $30,000; extension administrative building, $75,000; experiment station administrative building, $75,000; dairy husbandry building, $50,000; physics building, $75,000; biology building, $75,000; ten dormitories, $750,000. I expect to devote this ten years in the struggle for this school, and I just want to meet you men here at the end of this time and give you my report, and I believe that the whole program will be realized. Of course, we have some very big difficulties to overcome. There is the demand for another Agricultural and Mechanical College in Texas. This, my friends, I am opposed to, but I do want to see the day when demonstration agents can be found in every corner of this big state promoting the farm demonstration work, and find sub-stations scattered everywhere and that the extension work of the school shall be known over the whole world. Another obstacle is the agitation for the consolidation of the two state schools and handling them under one board. To this I also object. I have the very highest regard for the University of Texas and its board and all its supporters, but this would be the wrong thing to do in my opinion. Another obstacle that is going to handicap us in making my prophecy come true, will be legislative indifference. This should be watched and men should be sent to our legislature and our state senate who are broad minded and who have the future of our boys and growing young men at heart, and men who want Texas to be the leader of all states in the Union in the matter of higher education in all its branches. In closing let me say that in the ten years of which I speak, you will see Bryan and College connected up with beautiful homes all along the splendid interurban line that we now have and the paved street that we are to have in a very short time. You will find homes scattered around your fast growing little city that will be a credit to the larger cities and filled with good, upright, substantial citizens."

The last speaker of the evening was Professor R. O. Allen of the Allen Academy. Professor Allen had as a subject, "Civic Improvement." In beginning he said: "My friends, for cause unknown to myself, the program has been changed on me a bit. It is hard enough for me to make a speech between these great men to whom you have just listened, but when I have to get up to speak following the three splendid addresses from these great men on these great subjects that you have heard, it makes it very hard for me. I never wanted in my whole life to make a speech any more than I do right now, but as the hour is growing late I will talk to you just five minutes. I want to say that I have every faith in Dr. Bizzell and he is going to do great things for the Agricultural and Mechanical College and for the City of Bryan. Now, how can we as citizens of Bryan, make this dream come true? We can do it by doing just what we should do and we can make Bryan a greater city by doing just what we should do if the school was not in our midst. We should make a city here that will make every young man who comes to our institutions better by having been in our midst, get our streets, our stores and our public buildings up to the highest standard, and that will be our first step. Have our city up to this standard so that when the young men come here from all over this grand state they will go home and tell not only of the school, but of the model city in which the school is located. I believe that when the civic improvements are brought up in Bryan to the high standard that they should be, that it will not only bring us health but it will bring us wealth as well." Professor Allen closed his remarks by reading a little sketch written by Mayo Fesler, secretary of the Civic League of Cleveland, Ohio, which follows:

"A city, sanitary, convenient, substantial; where the houses of the rich and the poor are alike, comfortable and beautiful; where the streets are clean and the sky line is clear as country air; where the architectural excellence of its buildings adds beauty and dignity to its streets; where parks and playgrounds are within the reach of every child; where living is pleasant, toil honorable and recreation plentiful; where capital is respected but not worshipped; where commerce in goods is great but not greater than the interchange of ideas; where industry thrives and brings prosperity alike to employer and employed; where education and art have a place in every home; where worth and not wealth give standing to men; where interest in public affairs is a test of citizenship and devotion to the public weal is a badge of honor; where government is always honest and efficient, and the principals of democracy find their fullest and truest expression; where the people of all the earth can come and be blended into one community life; where each generation will vie with the past to transmit to the next a city greater, better and more beautiful than the last."

It was exactly 12 o'clock when the last speaker closed and the crowd reluctantly departed and every man present said that it was one of the most pleasant affairs that has ever been held in the City of Bryan. The day will be looked forward to when again we can meet with such a crowd and hear the ideas of our brainy men on the questions that confront us.

The entertainment committee is to be congratulated for the splendid program. Following is the menu:

RAT ROW SEWER NOW BEING LAID

Property Owners in This Section of the City Will Be Required to Connect Up at Once.

(From Saturday's Daily)

For some time our energetic and enthusiastic city engineer, A. S. Adams, in connection with the many other branches of civic improvement that he has been pushing, has been working on a sewer line for the lower part of Main Street, known as Rat Row, which is a section of the business district of Bryan that has never had a city sewer service.

A force of men is now at work on this line and same is being laid on Bryan Street from Caldwell Street to Calhoun Street, which will take in Rat Row, the Allen Smith block and the Palermo block. This is a very much needed improvement and Mr. Adams and the members of the City Council should be given a unanimous vote of thanks for this step. All property owners in this section of the city will be required to connect up with the sewer immediately after it is finished.

All sewer manholes in this section of the city are being raised about ten feet so as to put them on a line with the I. & G. N. track on Bryan Street, which is now being put up to the street level as a result of an effort made by Engineer Adams and Alderman Vick in a trip to Houston to visit the officials of that road some few weeks ago. This is a long step in the way of civic improvement and will remove an old eye-sore from view which has been in the City of Bryan for many years. Let the good work proceed.

YOUNG MUSICIANS.

(From Friday's Daily)

Two young boys who do not look to be over 7 and 9 years old, spent yesterday and today on Main Street in Bryan making music. The older one was playing a violin and the other a mandolin. The attracted quite a lot of attention owing to their size and the noise they made. They said their home was in Marlin.

E. E. SAPP GOT 40 YEARS, BROTHER

Elder Received Verdict of Guilty Without Immobility Countenance—Lufkin Turned Out to Get News.

(From Thursday's Daily)
Lufkin, Texas, May 25.—The jury in the famous Sapp case returned a verdict of guilty at 10:30 Wednesday, finding E. E. Sapp's punishment at 40 years in the penitentiary, and E. Sapp's punishment at 20 years. When the jailer announced that the jury was ready to report every one in town made for the district court room and by the time Judge Guinn arrived the court room was full of spectators. When the clerk read the jury's report the expression on E. E. Sapp's face changed very little, while E. Sapp laughingly remarked "That's not so bad."

The jury had been out since Saturday night.

The Sapps were accused of having killed Dick Watts, who, it was said, was hired to kill E. E. Sapp's wealthy wife.

The greater part of his time is among the country merchants in this section of the state.

TEXAS ONIONS.

Season Closing and Good Prices Have Been Received.
(From Friday's Daily)

Washington, May 24.—The Office of Markets and Rural Organization, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, reports that the Texas onion crop is rapidly being shipped out of the state, 3586 cars having gone forward up to the night of May 17. It is probable that the season will close by June 1.

The temporary branch of the Office of Markets, located at Laredo during the season, reports that good prices have been received by the growers to date. Both the Crystal Wax and Yellow Bermuda varieties have probably averaged at an average price of over $1.00 per crate for the entire season. The office of Markets has maintained a copy of branch at Laredo since shipments first became heavy and has been successful in securing efficient telegraphic information relative to shipments and market conditions, and has been assisting in securing efficient distribution. This information has been released daily at 2 o'clock at the Laredo Chamber of Commerce.

A large chart showing the destinations of all shipments for each day, and diversions which have been made from day to day, has been kept on display. From this information shippers have been enabled to divert their product to the best markets. The majority of the onion growers in Texas are being supplied daily with a mail bulletin which gives a complete summary of the shipments of the previous 24 hours and of market conditions on the morning of the day issued. Over 50 persons are receiving these bulletins daily.

The Department of Agriculture is also supplying shippers of Texas potatoes with information regarding shipments and prices. A field office has been opened at Eagle Lake. Growers of tomatoes in the East Texas district will be supplied with market news service in June when tomato movement from that territory begins.

HOUSTON VISITOR IS ENTERTAINED

(From Thursday's Daily)
The dinner given yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at the Hotel Bryan by the City Council honoring City Engineer E. E. Sands of Houston, was one of the most enjoyable affairs that has been given in Bryan in some time. Mr. Sands was scheduled to make a short address at the dinner, but owing to the fact that they were late in meeting, same had to be postponed. The party caught the 7:15 interurban car for College, where Mr. Sands delivered an illustrated lecture last night to the senior engineering class of the College. The speaker dealt with civic improvements and went into the many details of the engineering work in city building and it was very instructive, as the young men who are leaving the College this term are to be among our city builders and the faculty of A. & M. is to be congratulated on having secured Mr. Sands for the lecture. He is one of the best posted men in the United States in his line of work.

Those attending the banquet last night were: The honored guest, Mr. E. E. Sands, W. W. Harris, mayor of Bryan, City Engineer A. S. Adams, City Electrician C. B. Smith, G. P. Little, Aldermen John C. Vick, J. S. Kane, B. U. Sims and W. S. Wilson. President E. J. Fountain of the Commercial Club was also a guest.

TOM LOVE AND THE PROS LOST

The Bailey-Ferguson Combination Too Strong and Carried Every Point in Convention.

(From Thursday's Daily)
San Antonio, Texas, May 25.—Judge William Poindexter of Cleburne was elected democratic national committeeman from Texas over Thomas B. Love of Dallas, at the state democratic convention last night, closing a spirited two-days' contest during which the platforms and projects of the Bailey-Ferguson forces were victorious throughout. The vote was 419 to 347. Its business finished, the convention adjourned sine die at 8:02 o'clock.

Bailey on Top.

San Antonio, Texas, May 25.—And it has come to pass that the Bailey stone rejected by the El Paso builders has been accepted as the pillar in the temple of the democratic party of Texas.

It happened yesterday when by a vote of 446 17-22 to 369 5-22 the Bailey resolution pledging the party against national statewide prohibition and national woman suffrage was adopted. The followers of Love, Barton and Cullen F. Thomas went down in defeat after one of the most exciting scenes in Texas convention history and after a debate that will be memorable in the annals of the Texas democracy.

The warriors of the debate were the former senator, Colonel Thomas H. Ball, defeated for governor by James E. Ferguson, and Cullen F. Thomas, champion of the nationwide democrats and brother-in-law of United States Senator Morris Sheppard, advocate of nationwide prohibition and woman suffrage amendments.

A Blow at Morris Sheppard.

It was a square blow in the face for Senator Sheppard and the Texas representatives who have voted for these national amendments, and it is considered an endorsement of Senator Culberson, Representative Henry and his associates who have voted and talked against the twin issues now uppermost in the politics of America.

By agreement of the floor managers, Hanger and Ball, an hour was allotted to each side for the presentation of arguments pro and con. The report submitted by 19 members of the committee on platform contained an endorsement of Woodrow Wilson and the constructive policies of his administration, an endorsement of Vice President Thomas Marshall and a glowing defense of the Ferguson administration.

This report was signed by Chairman James B. Wells, Mr. Bailey, Congressman Henry, Governor Ferguson and other well known leaders of the state democracy.

Thomas Ignored Ferguson.

The minority report was submitted by Cullen F. Thomas and his associates. This was a 2000-word eulogy of President Wilson, all his policies, foreign and domestic, and each special act of legislation enacted by congress during the years of democratic reign. No mention was made of Marshall and no reference appeared in the Thomas report to the Ferguson administration.

Seven members of the minority presented a supplemental report commending Ferguson for living up to his pledges and for the success of his administration.

The majority report, or the Bailey-Ferguson report, was adopted by a vote as above stated:

Presidential electors at large chosen in open convention were: Marshall Hicks of San Antonio, Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas, Henry D. Paulus of Hallettsville and Hamp Abney of Sherman.

Delegates and alternates from the several districts were elected. Those from the Sixth District, in which Bryan is located, are as follows: Delegates, Luther Johnson, Navarro; Scott Reid, Limestone; alternates, Frank Wright, Freestone; Gus Newton, Milam; elector, Lee Kirgan, Freestone.

The delegates at large and eight alternates selected are:

J. M. Buford, Mount Pleasant; Stewart R. Smith, Beaumont; Robert L. Warren, Terrell; Lee Clark, Hunt County; Harry P. Lawther, Dallas; Charles H. Mills, Corsicana; Fred E. Pabst, Galveston; John H. Kirby, Houston; Will T. Bagby, Hallettsville; Paul D. Paige, Bastrop; James E. Ferguson, Temple; Louis J. Wortham, Fort Worth; F. F. Hill, Denton; Frank C. Davis, San Antonio; John N. Garner, Uvalde, and J. W. Goggins, El Paso.

SHERIFF CATCHES HORSE THIEF.

Sheriff T. C. Nunn yesterday arrested a negro by the name of Clem Wilson, who has a charge of horse theft against him. The negro was caught in the country close to Millican, where he had hired out to do farm work. It is alleged that the theft was committed here in the City of Bryan about two weeks ago. The horse was stolen off the streets from another negro named Jim Williams. The sheriff announced that he had the horse located also.

JONATHAN LANE OF HOUSTON DEAD

One of the Most Prominent Lawyers of Texas Passes Away at Port Aransas.

(From Saturday's Daily)
Houston, Texas, May 27.—Jonathan Lane, of this city, who was prominent in state, legal and political circles, died at Port Aransas, Texas, today. He was 62 years of age.

TAKES BRIDE BUT DID NOT KNOW HER NAME.

(From Saturday's Daily)
Quite a bit of amusement was afforded a few spectators who happened to be in County Clerk Higgs' office this morning when a couple of dusky lovers appeared and announced that they had a desire to start drifting across the rough sea of life together. The accommodating deputy clerk, Mr. T. C. Nunn, Jr., appeared at the window and asked the groom-to-be, his name and he said it was Pig Haley and in filling in the license the clerk of course had to have the name of the damsel who escorted him. Pig replied that her name was Lizzie, and when asked her last name he replied, "Boss I don't know what dat gal's name is," and, turning to her he said, "What am yo' las' name, Lizzie?" She told him it was Smith. The credentials were completed and with a very few but impressive remarks Justice of the Peace McGee made the couple man and wife. The smile on their faces broadened as they departed for their home.

TO CARRY MONEY SAFELY.

In the June Woman's Home Companion a writer gives the following directions to carry money safely:

"You may have given only a passing thought of where and how to carry money when you go traveling. To be safe, do not carry tickets, money and all valuables in one pocket. Buy a bill folder of sufficient size to take care of the railroad and steamer tickets, baggage checks, and so on. Probably the safest place to carry this wallet will be in the inside pocket of your coat. Your money—and in traveling in America it never is necessary to carry cash in any such amount as eight hundred dollars—will be safest and in the most convenient place for you if carried in a small leather folder in a side pocket of your trousers. Small change might be kept in the same pocket, but nothing else, for loose articles will be in the way when your fingers reach hastily for street car or cab fares. Money in a side pocket of one's trousers ordinarily is immune from pickpockets, much more so than if carried in the rear trousers pocket."

SINGING CONVENTION CALL.

President J. C. Cloud Issues Important Notice to All Choirs.
To the Singers of Brazos County:

The Brazos County Singing Convention will meet with the Harvey choir the first Sunday and Saturday before, which is the first and second days of July, 1916. As it is the purpose of this convention to help create and keep a good interest in gospel singing in our county, we would ask and urge that each choir send delegates. This means all, whether regular singing choirs or church choirs. We would be glad to see every church and community in the country represented at this session. If you have no regular choir, then we urge you to organize.

There was a committee appointed at our last session known as the singing missionary committee, to visit the communities where there was no regular organized choir and help them to get organized. If there is a community that would like to have these singers visit them any Sunday, notify Will B. Cook, chairman, at A. & M. College until after commencement, then Bryan, Route No. 6, and they will be glad to meet and sing with you. Let us have a choir in every community in the county, and have all the choirs represented at the convention. Come and help us make old Brazos the banner singing county of the state. Each choir is entitled to five delegates.

J. C. CLOUD, President.

CLUB FEDERATION NOW IN SESSION

Great Convention Opened in New York—Outline of Mrs. Pennybacker's Address.

(From Thursday's Daily)
(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
New York, May 25.—A step from nationalism to internationalism so that assistance may be rendered in a world-wide movement by women to "harmonize the nations" after the close of the European war, is recommended to the General Federation of Women's Clubs, yet mended to the General Federation of Women's Clubs by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Texas, in her report, as president, read here today at the thirteenth biennial convention of the Federation.

We may as well face the fact that foreign clubs are so few and far between that we are in reality only national," Mrs. Pennybacker said. "On the continent of Europe and in other countries little is known of the Federation because there the great woman's movement is represented by the National Council of Women all united in the International Council of Women."

"Now there is only one way in which the Federation can be represented in this International Council and that is by joining the already long-established National Council of Women in the United States."

"I will confess that there is a deeper reason that makes me so eager to see this brought to pass. When the cruel war is over and peace comes we shall find in the International Council an organization that is ready—ready for harmonizing the nations which are now at war—ready for calling back into wise common counsel women who for so many years were accustomed to work side by side."

"I pray that the 2,000,000 women of the Federation may have the privilege of sitting in the Council and of helping to bring back joy and harmony to the women of the world."

Mrs. Pennybacker made other recommendations of importance to the future activities of the Federation. One of these urged that the organization "go on record as favoring a continuance of effort on the lines of improvement of rural life and the Americanization of the immigrant." In this connection the president explained that her administration, having "early felt the need of proper alliance with the government," had established a system of co-operation with the departments of agriculture, interior and labor.

TO REMODEL MYERS BUILDING.

(From Thursday's Daily)
A contract has been let to Contractor Gammon for remodeling the front of the Myers Building on Main Street, which is occupied by Read & Stewart as a drug store. The entire front is to be built over and plate glass and pressed brick will be used in dressing same up. A brand new up-to-date awning will be swung at the front to take the place of the old one that is now very badly dilapidated. Part of the floor is to be put in new and after the work is completed it will be one of the best business houses in the town. All the material has been ordered for the work and, according to the contract, the job will start June 15. This is another progressive step in Bryan which goes to add to the betterment of the city.

REQUEST FOR TROOPS TURNED DOWN

War Department Disapproved General Funston's Application for Coast Artillerymen.

(From Friday's Daily)
San Antonio, Texas, May 26.—General Funston's request for more coast artillery has been refused by the war department. The additional units of the regular army and the militia of three border states has enabled him to strengthen materially the patrols along the long border, but even with that added force there remain many many weak points and it was to protect them that he asked for more companies of coast artillery.

General Funston refused to confirm the report, but it was indicated at his headquarters that he had replied to the department's refusal by a request that more militia be sent to him.

The militia now in camp here will start moving towards the border today.

The first regiment to go will be the Second Texas, with headquarters at Brownsville. This will be followed by a regiment moving Saturday to Eagle Pass and two days later another regiment will enter the Brownsville district. General Henry Hulen of the militia will be stationed at Brownsville in the command of Brigadier General James Parker.

Reports from General Pershing yesterday indicated no sharp developments, but reports from him and from other sources reflected the activity of Mexican troops. In strong numbers the Mexican troops were reported moving to stations near the frontier, but there was nothing to indicate that the motive was other than to establish over Northern Mexico an effective police force. General Funston and his staff have kept themselves closely informed, however, of the Mexicans' movements.

TOO POOR TO MARRY.

In rounding up the court house news today our genial county clerk, W. S. Higgs, was asked why he had gone out of the marriage license business, and he replied that the people were either too poor to marry or else they were going to other counties to get their credentials. With the exception of two colored couples there has not been a license issued in over a week.

JOE T. MCGEE IMPROVING.

(From Thursday's Daily)
A letter was received this morning by G. P. Bittle from Joe T. McGee, who went to Galveston about two weeks ago to undergo a surgical operation at the Seary Hospital, in which he states that he is now sitting up and is going to be strong again very soon. Mr. McGee stated further that the operation was much more serious than he first thought.

ALDERMAN WANTS STREETS CONNECTED

Good Live Wire on Aldermanic Board Who Says Fannin and Dallas Streets Should Be Joined.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

An Eagle representative happened to get in conversation with one of our able and energetic aldermen yesterday afternoon who has been right at the head of the movement to pave Bryan from Main Street to the city limits in every direction, and in speaking of the move that is on foot to pave Fannin Street, says it is a good one and that he is behind it in every detail. This gentleman also said that he was going to help the agitators of this movement to stretch this out a bit and instead of stopping at the I. & G. N. depot, run the paving on across Main Street and connect same up with Dallas Street, which will complete a pavement on out to A. & M. College. He says that this is the only way it should be done and then we can get to our most valuable asset without getting off a paved street.

We would like to suggest right here that in our opinion this is a move that should not be dropped until the streets are connected and in connecting same that instead of allowing a certain railroad, whose property this would cross get by with a few buckets of cheap oil, have the paving on the right of way just the same as on the street.

STREET PAVING STARTED TODAY

First Dirt Broken This Morning on West Anderson Street to Begin Paving Residence District.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

A large force of workmen started this morning on West Anderson Street a work that it is hoped will not stop in Bryan until every main residence street and every cross street in the city is paved. The dirt was broken for the paving of this street at 8:40 and the large force of workmen expect to rush the work along as fast as possible. After the excavation work is completed the curb and gutter men, who are right out on the ground with their machinery, will put in the curbs and gutters and then the laying of the pavement will begin.

STATE CANDIDATES MUST HUSTLE UP

State Chairman Waples Says Applications to Get on Ballot Must Be In by June 5.

(From Monday's Daily)

(By Associated Press)

Fort Worth, Texas, May 28.—Chairman Paul Waples of the State democratic executive committee, today issued a warning to state candidates that applications to be placed on the official ballot must be made to him before June 5, as the law prescribes.

GROW WINTER FEED.

Regarding silage and other feeds needed for winter to maintain the dairy cows the extension department of Clemson College very truly says: "It is now full time to begin figuring on the feed supply for the coming winter. We must keep our cows in good flesh if we expect them to do their best for us. Every dairyman who has 10 or more cows cannot afford to go through another winter without a silo of sufficient capacity to feed each cow in his herd 25 to 30 pounds of silage per day or approximately 1000 pounds per month, for at least six months in each year. Plant one-fourth more acreage than you figure to fill your silo, in corn or sorghum, so that should the drouth shorten the crop you will still have enough to fill the silo.

"Grow and save enough legume (or other) hays to feed each cow five to eight pounds per day if you are feeding silage as above suggested. This would require from 1000 to 1200 pounds per cow for the five winter months. If you do not have silage you should save 16 to 18 pounds, or 11-14 tons, of hay per cow. This will depend on the size of the cow. She must have her stomach full for best results. It is cheaper to fill her on silage and hay than on grain.

"Grow all the sweet potatoes, beets, and turnips you can. They are all good winter feeds for increasing the milk flow and decreasing the expense of production, especially when you do not have a silo.

"There is no better grain feed for mixing with our cotton seed meal than corn meal. For this reason we should plant enough corn to feed the cows a balanced ration. They will pay a good price for it. The amount necessary for each cow should vary according to the amount of milk and butterfat she produces. On the average you should plant enough to produce not less than 12 bushels per cow, and as much more as possible."

BUILDING BEING REPAIRED.

The old postoffice building is being worked over by a crew of painters and carpenters getting same in first class condition for the Hensarling Mercantile Company, which is to move in the latter part of the week. The floor is being repaired and made smooth, the ceiling is being painted and the walls are being treated to a coat of calamine. The announcement was made at the Hensarling store this morning that they were deferring their moving on account of the first as they want to give their customers the service they were used to, and if they are torn up same could not be done.

HOME UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

J. W. Hunnicutt yesterday afternoon let a contract to J. H. Nash for the erection of a modern six-room bungalow cottage. The contract also includes all outbuildings, a garage, fences and everything it will take to make a complete home. This new structure is to be on West Fannin Street just in front of the H. B. Stoddard home. The new home is to be complete in every detail and will be an ornament to the City of Bryan.

MISS CLAIRE OUSLEY.

Miss Ousley arrived home last night from Denton, where she was a member of the 1916 graduating class of the College of Industrial Arts. During the past session she served as editor-in-chief of The Lass-O, among the leading college weeklies in the state and the only one managed entirely by college girls. Miss Ousley is a daughter of Col. and Mrs. Clarence Ousley and is a most gifted young lady.

COLORED ORGANIZATION HEARS MISSIONARY.

Colored Y. M. C. A. Was Lectured Last Night by Rev. T. C. Vinson. Audience Very Attentive.

The colored Y. M. C. A. of this city which was organized some few weeks ago by Rev. Charlton Storey of the First Presbyterian Church, held its first meeting last night. They were treated to quite an interesting talk last night by Rev. T. C. Vinson, a returned missionary from Africa and was the guest yesterday of Rev. Storey. Quite a large crowd was present last night and every one there expressed a delight in hearing the talk the speaker made.

Rev. Vinson began his remarks by telling the boys that he felt more like he was at home than since he had returned to America inasmuch as all of his audiences in his foreign field were colored people. He gave them an outline of the work that he was trying to accomplish and after this told the boys of the very bad conditions that existed in this far away land. He went further into the every day life of these people and the talk was not only entertaining but was instructive and very entertaining.

This organization should have the encouragement of all the citizens of Bryan and Rev. Storey is to be congratulated on having started this movement. The organization is composed of young colored men of the city and a meeting is held every Monday night. Scripture is read and prayers are heard and a talk is made which tends to the betterment of their race.

MOVING FURNITURE STORE.

The furniture store of W. T. James is being moved this week into the Coulter Building on Bryan Street, which has been occupied by the Hensarling Mercantile Company. He has moved thus far into the part of the building which was formerly used by the Hensarling Company for their dry goods. He will complete his moving just as soon as the grocery firm vacates the other end of the building and when he gets possession of the entire building and gets arranged he will have one of the best houses in the city in which to conduct a furniture business.

LONDON PRESS ON WILSON'S PEACE

His Dream Lies in Lap, Not of the Gods, but of the Allies, Standard Said.

London, May 30.—"Irresponsible peace talk received its quietus from Sir Edward Grey last week, but no doubt President Wilson's speech before the League to Enforce Peace will revive the discussion in certain quarters," says the Liverpool Post.

The Post argues that the entente allies are fighting for virtually the same object for which President Wilson proposes a league of nations.

The Manchester Guardian says this plan of the president is almost as old as the first formulation of the ideal of organized peace, and adds:

"It is impossible to miss the significance of his declaration that the United States would be ready to become a party to any feasible league of nations. Twenty-one months of war have done much to undermine even the rooted American aversion from alliances and leagues."

The Westminster Gazette says:

"We do not understand how a neutral can expect to influence these events if he begins by declaring himself not to be considered with their causes and objects."

Presenting the argument that the entente allies can not be expected to welcome the implied judgment that they really are responsible with their enemies for starting the war the Gazette continues:

"We must guard ourselves in advance against being thought unreasonable if we are unable to accept peace overtures based on the assumption of equal guilt."

The Gazette considers President Wilson's declaration that the United States is willing to become a partner in any feasible association of nations as a momentous one. The association of nations to prevent war has the hearty assent of this influential newspaper.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Enforcement of peace is precisely what we ourselves are pursuing in what we believe to be the only way."

The Evening Standard says President Wilson gives no hint of perceiving "that his dream of universal peace lies in the lap, not of the Gods, but of the allies."

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES ARE ENTERTAINED.

The ladies of the missionary society of the First Presbyterian Church were hostesses yesterday afternoon to the other church societies on the lawn of the First Presbyterian Church. A large crowd was in attendance and quite an interesting meeting was had. A full report will be published in the society column of The Eagle Saturday.

JUSTICE COURT.

(From Monday's Daily)

Justice of the Peace McGee called the civil docket in the justice court this morning and a few cases went by default for the want of prosecution. The case of the First National Bank of Bryan vs. R. A. Parker et al, suit for judgment on a promissory note, was called and has taken up the better part of the day.

GETTING READY TO MOVE.

A force of workmen has been put to work on the office in the rear of the Commerce Building, into which the Western Union Telegraph office is to be moved. The telegraph people have been paying rent in this building now for several months, but have not, for some unknown reason, taken any steps toward getting moved.

OVERCOMES DIFFICULTIES WITH SMILE

Manager L. M. Levinson of Local Railway Is Man Who Does Things and Smiles at Trouble.

(From Monday's Daily)

Manager L. M. Levinson of the Bryan and Central Texas Interurban, is a citizen of Bryan that we need many more like. He is a man that believes in doing things, regardless of the difficulties that may confront him, and here is his last achievement: Freight and other traffic over this road was put out of commission last Friday until some repair work could be done on the bridge which spans the Little Brazos River on this line. Mr. Levinson had inaugurated a regular schedule for passenger service and he was determined to give his patrons the service he had promised. In order to do this he got hold of his inspection motor car, which accommodates eight passengers, and ran same right on schedule time. A force of workmen were driving piles at the river trestle and at this point the motor inspection car was taken by these men and pushed across the river on the wagon bridge and replaced on the track in a few minutes, and the journey to the end of the line was completed. This operation was repeated on the return trips. Now we claim this is going some and is a good demonstration of this enterprising manager's ability to overcome obstacles that come before him.

Mr. Levinson announced this morning that the bridge had been repaired and that Saturday afternoon the regular train left on schedule time. He made a trip to the end of the line this morning and found everything running smooth, and with the exception of a 36-hour delay in freight service, nothing had gone wrong.

DID NOT WANT MORE BATTLESHIPS

Washington, May 30.—An amendment to the naval bill providing for six battle cruisers instead of five as recommended by the naval committee, was defeated in the house today by 109 to 83.
